JDBC-Access Gateway product datasheet

Overview

The JDBC-Access Gateway is a highly reliable Type 2 JDBC driver for both .mdb and .accdb format Microsoft Access databases.

If you have a Java application that needs to connect to Microsoft Access then this is the solution for you.

Easy access to Microsoft Access

The Easysoft JDBC driver for Microsoft Access provides JDBC access from Java applications, application servers, and servlets to native Access file types (MDB and ACCDB files).

We have developed this solution to be quick at accessing the data you need and incredibly scalable, making it the perfect solution for any organisation no matter the size.

If you configure your Java security policy to allow the Easysoft JDBC-Access Gateway to load its native component, the driver can also be used with Java applets.

Communicate with Microsoft Access

The Easysoft JDBC-Access Gateway uses the Java Native Interface (JNI) to communicate with the Microsoft Access ODBC driver; there is no need to configure an ODBC data source.

Because this driver library also supports Excel, it also provides JDBC access to XLS format Excel workbooks.
